McCarthy Not to Head Any Party Bolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen.
Eugene J. McCarthy says flatly
he would not become an independent presidential candidate
if he loses the Democratic nomination—but that he could support a fourth party drive by someone else.

McCarthy also indicated Sunday he may abandon his announced hopes of going to Paris to learn first-hand from North Vietnamese diplomats the prospects for settlement of the Vietnam war.

"If I thought that my going was going to interrupt or interfere with (current peace) negotiations," he said, "I wouldn't go."

The Minnesota senator again refused to say he could support Vice President Hubert H. Him-phrey as the Democratic presidential nominee and said he could support a fourth party drive under specific conditions.

Such support would be possible, he said, if the independent ticket "was substantial, had senting the right choice to the people, and if neither of the other two parties was presenting dorse a choice worthy of the prize."

But McCarthy said with no reservations he would not be the candidate heading such a ticket.
Earlier he had said he would not "lead" a fourth party effort.

Humphrey, meanwhile, said he would support McCarthy if the senator became the Democratic presidential nominee. But the vice president said he believes he and Republican Richard M. Nixon will be the candidates on the November ballot.

"If it's Mr. McCarthy, if I have the choice between Mr.
McCarthy and Mr. Nixon," Humphrey said, "there isn't any doubt that I will support Mr.
McCarthy."

McCarthy was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press" and Humphrey on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Republican Nixon said he will have the edge in November because the Democratic convention "will go the way of the bosses" and Humphrey will be nominated "over the objection of a majority of the Democratic voters."

Nixon said the Democratic majority sentiment was shown in heavy primary votes for McCarthy and the late Sen.
Robert F. Kennedy—and said he, Nixon, outpolled all the Democrats in the primaries.

The former Republican vice president made the comments
in a Miami Herald interview.
In other political developments:

—New York Gov. Nelson A.
Rockefeller, GOP presidential bidder, said the Johnson administration's "lack of a national transportation policy is a drag on the economy and an aggra-vation to everyone. As president
I would deal with this mess as a matter of the highest urgency."

—Third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace said it now appears he will be on the November ballot in every state except Ohio, and said he will continue to fight to get on Ohio's ballot.

—Associated Press interviews in six key states show Democratic party leaders are lining up delegates to nominate Him-phrey—but that some are beginning to worry he can't win in November and they could take a new look at McCarthy.

—The Gallup Poll reports the Democratic Party is presently showing great strength at the congressional level—58 per cent support to 42 per cent for Republicans—after losing 47 House seats to the Republicans in 1966.

—New Jersey Gov. Richard J.
Hughes, chairman of the Democratic National Convention credentials committee, says he expects McCarthy delegates from Connecticut "and some other states" may stage a walkout.

Evers Says
Non-Violence
'Only Way'
WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights leader Charles Evers says he continues to believe in racial integration as a goal for the American Negro and that it should be gained through nonviolence.

"Violence won't work any place. Once we lose faith we're through... We've got to live together and work together as human beings," he said.
Evers is field director of the Mississippi branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.
His brother Medgar was shot

FAUBUS SHOWS (from page one)

he said, "I hope we might do as well as he did during his tenure as governor."

Faubus said he had not visited the open houses of the other candidates and that he did not plan to do so. "I don't recall that they attended any of mine," he said. "They may have, but I don't remember it."

Advised by newsmen that his visit would be interpreted as an informal endorsement of Bennett, he said, "I'll leave the interpretation and the speculation to the press and the readers."

Asked if he agreed with Bennett's political philosophy, he said, "I'm not sure I've kept up with all of it, I agree with most of the things Mr. Bennett has said. I also agree with most of what the other Democratic candidates are saying."

Most of the Democratic candidates can beat Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, Faubus said, adding, "It's possible that any one of the six could beat him."

Faubus said he felt the Democratic candidates were discussing the issues, despite reports in the press that they are spending most of the time at good leadership and was pre-tacking Rockefeller.

Faubus said, as he has become, that he is not likely to enter two parties was presenting dorse any candidate in the primary.

Faubus' visit to the open house was a poorly kept secret.
Bennett aides told newsmen that he was coming and his arrival did not seem to surprise anyone.

Fighting in Vietnam Due to Increase

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines killed 201 North Vietnamese soldiers along the eastern end of the demilitarized zone during the last four days in fighting that could presage more big battles along South Vietnam's northern border, military spokesmen reported today.

Sen. Huynh Van Cao told the South Vietnamese Senate in a speech that 30 North Viet-nam's a m e s e regiments—perhaps 45,000 men—have been massed around South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces, Quang Tri and Thua Thien in preparation for a third offensive.

During the past eight days,
U.S. Air Force B52 bombers have flown 36 missions just above the southern half of the DMZ along the southern fringes of North Vietnam to ease pressure on American forces along the northern frontier.

The unusually heavy B52 strikes, in which more than 5,000 tons of bombs have been dropped could be preparing for a major allied ground sweep along the DMZ.

With the pressure along the northern border apparently increasing again, the U.S. Command and faced the prospect of a two-front war once more. It still expects another major attack on Saigon, which intelligence reports say will come before July 20, the anniversary of the 1954
Geneva agreement which split
North and South Vietnam.

The B52s have been hard at work around Saigon, too, attempting to discourage massing of enemy regiments for an attack on the capital. The eight-jet Stratoforters flew eight missions Sunday and Monday 45 to 75 miles north and northwest of Saigon.

The fighting at the eastern flank of the DMZ centered around Gio Linh, an allied combat base three miles south of the buffer strip.

In two clashes Sunday, U.S.
Marines, backed by dive bombers, artillery and tanks, reported 87 North Vietnamese soldiers killed, Marine casualties were put at five killed and 17 wounded.

In a day-long action last Friday near Gio Linh, the Marines said they killed 134 North Vietnamese soldiers while suffering five dead and 64 wounded.

On the Saigon front, South Vietnamese infantrymen launched an offensive 25 miles northwest of the capital today and uncovered an enemy weapons cache only 2½ miles from Khien Cuong, the capital of Hau Nghia province.

The cache contained a bazooka-type rocket launcher, 130
rounds of rockets to go with it, 10 boxes of ammunition and a number of claymore mines.

years ago when he held the same NAACP post.

"It's wrong for Negroes in this country to become hate-mongers. They killed my brother and they killed my best friend, but I will continue to fight to make Mississippi a better place for both black and white," he said.

Evers spoke Sunday on the CBS program, "Face the Nation."

Stiffer Gun Control Bill Not Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sui-cases and boxes stuffed with petitions for strict gun controls were carted into a Senate hearing today while a House committee prepared to act on a sweeping proposal to ban mail order sales of all firearms.

Senators were told the petitions carried more than one million signatures.

With both wings of Congress at work today on the gun control measures, a bill is expected to emerge from the House this week. But there is still doubt whether a stricter law can be sent to the White House before Congress goes home next month.

A proposed ban on mail sales of rifles, shotguns and ammunition was pending before the House Rules Committee while the Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee conducted hearings on a wide range of gun control measures.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the subcommittee chairman, said he will offer an amendment to put into effect immediately the firearms import controls provided for in the recently enacted crime bill.

The import curbs will not take effect until mid-December as the law now stands. Dodd said some importers are making a last ditch attempt to flood the country with cheap foreign surplus military weapons before then.

Consideration of stiffer gun control laws became a major issue following the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy early last month.

One restriction came soon after Kennedy's death when Congress passed and the President signed an omnibus crime control bill containing a provision prohibiting the mail-order sale of pistols.

Then as congressmen reported public pressure mounting for even stronger gun bills, measures were introduced to extend the mail-order ban on handguns to rifles and shotguns.

Opponents of the more stringent laws, led by the National Rifle Association, launched a drive to keep Congress from acting. This effort seemed to crest about the time President Johnson asked for laws registering all guns and licensing their owners.

A.W. Bird II Gets Naval Commission

MONTICELLO — Allen W.
Bird II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Bird of Monticello and grandson of Mrs. S. G. Norton, formerly of Hope, has been notified by the Office of the Judge Advocate General, Department of the Navy, Washington, D.C., of his selection for appointment as a Lieutenant (junior grade), U.S.
Naval Reserve.

He is scheduled to report to the U.S. Naval Schools Command, Newport, R.I., on October 27 to attend the Officer Indoctrination Course, consisting of indoctrination in military justice. He will also be given instruction in naval customs, traditions and organizations in the nine-week period.

He will then attend a seven-week course in military law at the U.
S. Naval Justice School in Newport to provide an insight into the duties he will be performing in practicing law as a uniformed lawyer.

He will be given a permanent duty assignment following attendance in these schools.

Bird received his Law degree
June 1 from the University of Arkansas Law School. Before that he attended Florida State University at Tallahassee where he was awarded a B.A. degree.

He is married to the former Miss Kathy Cartee of Tampa, Florida.

Until he is commissioned into the Navy in October he and his wife are associated for several months with Thomas E. Sparks, Fordyce attorney.

Traffic Toll in Arkansas Reaches 7

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Seven persons died in six separate traffic accidents during the 102-hour Fourth of July weekend which ground to a halt at midnight Sunday.

The long holiday weekend began Wednesday at 6 p.m.

Two persons were killed Sunday on the Arkansas highways.

Mrs. Susie Goodwin, 82, of Fayetteville died at a Fayetteville hospital slightly more than three hours after being struck by a car on U.S. 71 in Fayetteville.

Authorities said the woman apparently stepped into the path of a car driven by Wendell Maggard, 27, of Fayetteville.

Sam Jones of Steele, Mo., died Sunday morning at a Memphis hospital of injuries he received earlier in the morning in a one-car accident on a Mississippi County road at Armorer.

Officers said Jones was a passenger in a car driven by Billy Stewart, 31, of Blytheville.

Authorities said Stewart apparently lost control of the vehicle.
Salley Rogers Hunt, 51, of Houston, Tex., and Miss Gladys Smith, 48, of Malvern were killed Saturday in a two-car crash on U.S. 270 north of Malvern.

Dorothy Marie Williams, 3, of Augusta died Saturday after being struck by a car on Arkansas 33 at Augusta.

Mrs. Nadine Wells, 41, of Mo-nette was killed Friday after apparently stepping in the path of a construction vehicle on Arkansas 18 at Monette.

Mrs. Alma Adams, 66, of Pine Bluff was the victim of a two-car crash Thursday on Arkansas 54 between Watson
Chapel and Sulphur Springs.

Those Junior Auxiliary members assisting were Mesdames Talbot Field, Bill Watson, Earl Whitaker at Hempstead County Nursing Home; Mesdames Wayne Russell, Dale Flowers at Hope

Nursing Home and Mesdames Jerry Johnson, Bob Kellam and John Graves at Branch Nursing Home.

VICTORY HD CLUB HAS PARTY

On July 3, the day before Independence Day, the Victory Extension Homemakers Club had a holiday meeting at Fair Park with Mrs. James Ellis as hostess. A patriotic theme was used, from the opening song, "America," led by Mrs. Robert Cash, to the red, white, and blue picnic tables where the meeting was held.

Mrs. Jerry Brown, president, gave the Thought of the Month, "Wisdom is knowing what to do with what you know." Unusual "tin can craft" was illustrated by Mrs. Eva McKinney with a miniature upholstered chair made with a tin can blue brocade.

Quack doctors and reliable physicians were discussed by Mrs. Ellis. She also presented a devotional message, "How I Love the Law," based on Psalm 119:97.

The roll call was answered by six members who gave a "hint on how to be a better shopper." During the business session, Mrs. Brown reported a good sale of soap holders by club members. Plans were made for a Watermelon Feast at Fair Park in August, and all members are urged to attend.

Mrs. McKinney directed a newspaper game called "Secret." Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Ellis received anniversary gifts from their Secret Pals, and the Surprise Package went to Mrs. Maxine Rowe, Cookies, chips, and cold drinks were served to the members and two guests, Masters Scott and Allen Brown.

TWO PARTIES HONOR RECENT BRIDE

On Wednesday, July 3, two parties were held for Miss Sharon Fielding, who became the bride of Winston Byron Thomas July 5. First, a mid-morning brunch was given at the Town and Country by Mrs. A. L. Park of Hope and Mrs. Bennie Dowling of Hutto, Tex.

The honoree pinned a white corsage at the shoulder of her yellow dress. Her mother, Mrs. Jack Fielding, and grandmother, Mrs. E. S. Franklin, were each given a corsage of green Fuji chrysanthemums.

Pink and white flowers formed the table centerpiece, and covers were laid for 12. Those from out of town were Mrs. Mike Allen of Little Rock, sister of the honoree, Mrs. William Freeman of Benton, Mrs. David Tucker of Columbia, Mo., Mrs. Robert Hamilton of Nashville, Miss Mary Ann Wood of North Little Rock, and Miss Ann Rutherford, of Greenville, Tex., cousin of the honoree.

That evening a Spice and Rice Party for Miss Fielding was held in the home of Mrs. Claud Sutton with Ms. Bill Freeman of Benton, co-hostess. The bride-elect received 30 kinds of spices with no duplications from the gathering of 8 friends. They also made rice bags to be distributed at the wedding reception.

A large rice bag and colorful summer flowers centered the table, where punch and cake were served. In addition to the honoree and hostesses, others at the party were Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Downing, Miss Wood, and Miss Rutherford.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED WITH DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Rutherford, Greenville, Tex., honored her niece, Miss Sharon Fielding, and her fiancé, Winston Byron Thomas, with a dinner at the Heritage House Thursday, July 4 following the wedding rehearsal. The bride-elect wore a beige frock with a white corsage. Pink and white zinnias decorated the serving table, where covers were

MR. AND MRS. MACK McLARTY HONORED WITH PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. G. Ted Cameron of Little Rock had a 4th of July Party for Mr. and Mrs. Mack McLarty of Fayetteville at the Cameron home on Lake Hamilton, Hot Springs.

About 35, including members of the recent wedding party and their dates, enjoyed an afternoon on the lake with many kinds of water sports. A buffet supper was served in the evening with tables decorated in a patriotic motif and red and white flowers in wrought iron. A beautiful fireworks display climaxed the event.

Those attending from Hope were Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Branch and Marynell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Caldwell, Miss Diane Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McLarty and Bud.

Coming, Going

Mrs. Jimmy L. Gilbert has recently returned to Arkansas after an eight-month stay in Wurzburg, Germany with her husband, Sp. 4 Gilbert. He is expected to return stateside and be discharged in early November. She is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Gilbert on the Columbus road.

Eric Nudel, Brooklyn, N.Y., is spending a few weeks this summer with the Crit Stuart, Jr. family while working at KXAR.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jones, Jackson, Miss., arrived this weekend to visit relatives in the area, including the Gus Hickersons.

Mrs. Cecil Tuck, Pasadena, Calif., and Mrs. Joann Hillard, Houston, Tex., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gus Hickerson.

The Richard Keyton family moved to their new home in Orange, Tex., last week.

Mrs. Roland Pearson and Mrs. Earl C. Goulet, Los Angeles, Calif., left Sunday for the British Isles. They will sail on the H.M.S. Queen Elizabeth, and they will return the end of September on the S.S. United States. Mrs. Pearson expects to be back in Hope the first week in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Vick, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Caston and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ambrose, Jr., returned home to Tulsa, Okla., last Friday after visiting Mrs. K. E. Ambrose in Hope and the Jack Ambrose family in El Dorado.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Whitworth, Hope, and Mrs. Jack Ambrose, El Dorado, went to Bald Knob Friday for the funeral services for Mrs. W. G. Whitworth, sister-in-law of H. C. Whitworth.

Mrs. Warren Basye and daughter, Houston, visited her sister, Mrs. B. N. Holt, in a local hospital over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter O'Connor, El Dorado, and Webb Warmack, Chicago, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Leland Warmack.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie McCorkle and Mr. Claude McCorkle have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fincher in Greenville, South Carolina and Mrs. Claude Fincher in Lynchburg, Virginia. They toured the Appomattox Court House, National Historical Park in Virginia and other interesting places in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Tennessee.

Your Nails Breathing?

Your nails must be allowed to breathe. Are your cuticles grown over the nails or are they loose enough for you to run a toothpick under? That is the place where the nails breathe. If the cuticle is tight, the nails suffocate and turn brittle and form ridges. Use cuticle oil and an orangewood stick and gently loosen edges. Do not cut cuticles. Only a trained beautician knows how to remove the cuticle properly without causing damage.

Television and Radio

EDITOR'S NOTE—Ed Newman, with a long experience on the journalistic front lines, is one of NBC News department's utility men—reporter, analyst, narrator, writer or anything else needed. He was among the network correspondents who, for hours on end, were on the air and talking during the slow progress of Sen. Robert Kennedy's funeral train between New York and Washington. He was asked to describe the fine art of the marathon ad lib.

By ED NEWMAN
NEW YORK (AP)—How do you write a column about ad libbing on the air? Ad lib it, I suppose.

I have had to do a good deal of ad libbing of late—in connection with President Johnson's decision not to run again; after the death of Martin Luther King Jr., and again in connection with the death of Robert Kennedy.

Successful ad libbing depends first on not talking too much and too soon. If you dazzle them early, you may bore them later. It depends in the second place on having a large and miscellaneous body of knowledge, and on the association of ideas—you see something and it reminds of something else, ideally something relevant and illuminating. Even with the News Department behind you, there is nothing so reassuring as ideas which you have not used running through your mind.

By the way, you can sometimes dazzle by accident. I once had to ad lib at length about the Royal Ballet and its star, Margot Fonteyn, whose married name is Arias. As it happened, I could remember her husband's nickname, Tito, and not his real name, Roberto. I said something like, "whose nickname, of course, is Tito." The "of course" did it. People were astonished: "He even knows the man's nickname."

The next essential asset is calm. Consider President Johnson's announcement that he would not seek re-election. About 30 seconds passed between his announcement and my having to speak. That isn't much time for reflection, and the only way to deal with such a

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Battel

CURE FOR "MOVING" MOTHER IN LAW

Dear Helen: I've heard of managing mothers-in-law, but this is the livin' end. My sister's main-lives next door to them. Mama not only pops in at all hours, but she even rearranges her daughter-in-law's furniture. Constantly!

My sister is a fine housekeeper and she likes her own arrangements. It's most disconcerting to come after a shopping trip and see your front room switched from here to there. Mama doesn't bother about knocking. Son lets Mommy have her way, no matter what. Without causing conflict, how can this situation be eased?—CONCERNED SISTER

Dear Sis: Best cure for this "moving" m-in-l is: Move to the other side of town—or even farther away. The relationship waiting for help to arrive.

How you look does not matter on the radio. The first lengthy ad libbing I did for NBC came at the funeral of King George VI in 1952. I was on the battlements at Windsor Castle, ready to go on as soon as the funeral procession came into view. For a variety of reasons, I was called in as the funeral procession left my view. Also, it was a cold day, I was wearing heavy gloves and holding a microphone, and couldn't get my notes out of my pocket. You have no idea how long 10 to 12 minutes can be.

There is one other key to successful ad libbing. You have to talk to the audience in the way that is natural to you. Anything else, over the hours, would be an intolerable strain. In other words, you have to be yourself for long periods.

There is one other key to successful ad libbing. You have to talk to the audience in the way that is natural to you. Anything else, over the hours, would be an intolerable strain. In other words, you have to be yourself for long periods.

Cynthia Lowry is on vacation

Dear Helen: I've been married ten years to a wonderful man who would do anything for me. But like most perfect mates, he is sometimes dull. It was during one of those times that I drifted into an affair with a married man. Mark was everything my husband isn't: A chaser, a cheat, a "laker," but, oh, so exciting! We'd meet at his apartment while my three children were in school. No one suspected.

When I became pregnant, he told me he could never leave his wife for me and we'd have to say good-bye. He thought the baby was my husband's and I hoped it was—until I saw him.

To me, the resemblance to Mark is startling. My husband thinks my son looks like his grandfather's baby pictures.

I know now how foolish I was, and how lucky I am, but how can I live with this secret when every time I see the baby I'm reminded of it?

I love my husband more than ever, and I couldn't bear to hurt him. If he knew the truth, he'd be totally crushed. Every day I try to make it up to him. He and Mark are business acquaintances, and I alternate between fear he'll find out and a great longing to tell him. What shall I do?—PAYING THE PRICE

Dear Paying: ESP is not my department, but something tells me your husband already knows. Don't you think a man "who would do anything for his wife" might prefer to let the present bury the past? If he can do this, why can't you?—H

Dear Helen: I sometime wonder if waitresses have a "hate" on for women. When men lunch together, they usually get separate checks without asking—or so it seems. Maybe there's sign-an here that I miss.

But when females go out to lunch, here comes one check for all five or six, including different priced drinks, main courses, and desserts. Then man at other tables smile behind their hands as we try to separate what we owe, plus tax. Why don't waitresses ask a simple question, "Separate checks?" so we won't be embarrassed?—THE GIRLS

Dear Girls: Why don't YOU ask a simple question, "May we have separate checks?" ... Though I agree, the waitress should think of this first.

(Reminds me of a definition from Changing Times Magazine: "Confusion is one woman plus one left turn; excitement is two women plus one secret; bedlam is three women plus one bargain; chaos is four women plus one luncheon check!—H

U.S. Olympic Swim Team Best Ever

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. swimming team that goes to the Mexico City Olympics in October is going to be the best ever, according to its coach. It will have to be.

George Haines, coach of the Santa Clara Swim Club that hosted the city's International Invitational swim meet over the weekend, said the meet showed his team improving at about the pace he likes and that the foreign competition in Mexico is going to be rugged.

Mexico itself, in fact, may turn out to be a less than gracious host.

Guillermo Echevarria, the country's 20-year-old distance swimmer, was unquestionably the star of the meet, setting a world record in the 1,500-meter freestyle and placing second in the 400-meter freestyle to world record holder Mark Spitz in a fine time.

"I don't think there's any question that Echevarria is the favorite in the 400 and 1,500 at Mexico," said Haines after the meet. "It was a real shot in the arm for him to beat Mike Burton at sea level."

Echevarria's time, 16:28.1, broke by six seconds, Burton's world record.

But, says Haines, "I think Burton will go about 16:10 to 16:15 in the Olympic Trials in Long Beach, Calif., in August."

Also, he said, Don Schollander, Spitz, Greg Buckingham and the rest are not in their top shape. Buckingham set a world record of 4:45.1 in the 400-meter individual medley Saturday and Spitz won the three events in which he holds the world record, the 100 and 200-meter in 56.5 and 2:06.0 respectively, but he lost the 400-meter freestyle in 4:08.1.

Schollander won the 200-meter freestyle Saturday, but lost the 200 to Zac Zorn Saturday.

In all, six world records were set at the meet including Claudia Kolb's crowd-pleasing 5:05.4 triumph in the 400-meter individual medley Saturday. She had won the 200-meter version of the event the day before, but on a judge's decision after Sue Pederson had been given a faster time.

Other records came by Miss Pederson on a 2:09.5 200-meter freestyle leadoff leg on an 800-meter relay, her Arden Hills Swim Club's team clocking of 8:46.4, and the host club's 400-meter freestyle really clocking of 4:01.0.

Other individual winners were Karen Muir, South Africa, 100-meter backstroke, 1:07.7; Debbie Meyer, 400-meter freestyle, 4:29.5; Fred Haywood, 100-meter backstroke, 1:01.5; Buckingham, 200-meter individual medley, 2:13.2.

Also, Tony Hewitt, 200-meter butterfly, 2:24.6; Miss Meyer, 200-meter freestyle 2:10.1; Jan Hene, 100-meter breaststroke, Miss Pederson, 100-meter freestyle, 1:00.0; Elaine Tanner, Canada, 200-meter backstroke, 2:24.6; Jack Hersley, 200-meter backstroke, 2:11.3; Ann Simmons, 1,500-meter freestyle, 18:06.8; Kathy Jamison, 200-meter breaststroke, 2:43.6; Felipe Munoz, Mexico, 200-meter breaststroke, 2:29.3, and Miss Hewitt, 100-meter butterfly, 1:05.8.

Winning in diving competition were Bernie Wrightson with 468.40 points in the men's and Sue Gossick with 419.20 points in the women's.

Clark Still Thinks He'll Beat Liston

SANTA FRANCISCO (AP) — The next time Henry Clark goes stalking the Big Bear, he's going to be armed with more ammunition.

"I'm going to take a week's vacation and then train twice as hard," said the 23-year-old Clark after the Bear, Sonny Liston, stopped him Saturday at 2:47 of the seventh round in a nationally televised bout scheduled for 10.

"I just couldn't get going and I wasn't strong enough," added Clark. "But I think I can beat him."

Billie Jean King Champ Third Time
By GIFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Mrs. Billie Jean King, Wimbledon queen for the third time, had the last word Monday as professional and amateur tennis stars left the scene of the first open All-England championships.

"The British are right," said the professional star from Long Beach, Calif. "They call us all players, merely players, competing here for money prizes. Yet in other places, some are still called amateurs and play in the Davis Cup."

"We are all in the same boat. We all make our living by playing tennis. Open tennis has proved itself, and I hope the whole world will come to follow Britain's example and call all competitors players."

The British told all Wimbledon competitors they would compete for prize money or just expenses, just as they liked. But they were all termed players, and the words pros and amateurs did not appear in the Wimbledon programs.

Of the $63,600 prize money at stake, roughly half was not paid out because most of the amateurs didn't ask for it. They had not been given permission by their national associations to play for money.

Professionals took some tumble as the amateurs raised their game and scored upsets. But in the end the pros dominated every title except the mixed doubles.

The organizers paid out the full prize money for the men's singles final—$4,800 to the winner, Rod Laver, and $3,120 to his fellow Australian pro, Tony Roche, the runner-up. Laver won the final 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Mrs. King picked up the women's first prize of $1,800 after her 9-7, 7-5 victory over Australian amateur Judy Tegart. Miss Tegart had chosen to play for expenses only, so the second prize of $1,080 went back into the pot.

Two Australian pros, John Newcombe and Roche, won the men's doubles and split a first prize of $1,920. They defeated fellow Australians Ken Rosewall and Fred Stolle 3-6, 8-6, 5-7, 14-12, 6-3.

Mrs. King and her professional colleague, Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, shared $1,200 by winning the women's doubles title for the second straight year.

They won the title with a 3-6, 6-4, 7-5 decision over professional Ann Haydon Jones of Britain and Francoise Durr of France.

Ken Fletcher and Mrs. Margaret Court of Australia, mixed doubles champions for the fourth time in six years, were the only amateurs to win a title. But both were playing for prize money and shared $1,080.

They won with a 6-1, 12-14 decision over Alexander Melrevel and Olga Morozova, the first Russians ever to appear in a Wimbledon final.

a pro when Clark was only 8, won his seventh straight—all by knockouts—since he lost to Cassius Clay for the second time three years ago.

The former heavyweight champion, an inch shorter than Clark, was four pounds heavier at 219 and made good use of his 2-inch reach advantage.

He picked away at Clark with hard left jabs and short hooks. Liston never backed away and scored repeatedly with counter punches as Clark missed with wild bolo punches.

Liston jarred Clark in the sixth, when Clark was warned for a low blow, and staggered him in the seventh with a left uppercut and a long right. At that point, Clark was dodging, but not fighting back.

When referee Frankie Carter stopped the bout, he and judges Jack Downey and Jack Silver each had it 6-0, Liston, under the California scoring system.

2 Sweeps Put Cardinals 10 Games Ahead

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Seven days ago, the St. Louis Cardinals were sputtering through a spell of misfortune; their league-lead had been cut to 6½ games, and there was a glimmer of hope that the National League race might not be such a drab affair after all.

Forget it.

A couple of veterans did everything that was needed Sunday in delivering St. Louis' seventh straight victory, a 2-0 conquest of San Francisco.

The triumph, coupled with Houston's 5-4 edging of Atlanta and Cincinnati's 6-5 loss at Los Angeles, boosted the Cardinals' lead to a very cozy 10 games heading into the three-day break for the All-Star Game.

But, while the Cards are riding roughshod on first, things are downright crowded the rest of the way down in the standings. Only 4½ games separate second place Cincinnati from ninth-place Chicago.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, Chicago used a pair of dramatic finishes to edge Pittsburgh 5-4 and 4-3 and the New York Mets whipped Philadelphia 4-2, after dropping the opener of a doubleheader 4-3.

In the American League, first-place Detroit dropped Oakland 5-4 and 7-6, Chicago nipped Washington 4-3 in 11 innings, Boston stopped Minnesota 4-3 and 6-3, New York defeated Baltimore 3-1 before losing 3-2, and Cleveland whipped California 8-3, then lost 9-7.

Lou Brock and Curt Flood personally provided all of the Cardinals' runs.

A Brock triple and Flood's single in the sixth halted a scoreless duel between winner Larry Jaster and Caylor Perry. Then in the eighth, the fleet Brock reached first on an error and swiped both second and third before coming in on Flood's sacrifice fly.

Jaster, 6-4, yielded only a pair of hits before he loaded the bases in the seventh and required help from Ron Willis to quell the threat.

Hank Aaron drove in all of Atlanta's runs and smashed two homers to up his career total to 499—just one shy of the plateau reached by only seven other major leaguers in history.

But it wasn't enough to overcome an early Houston uprising. The Astros exploded for four runs in the first when Norm Miller had a leadoff homer and Rusty Staub poled a three-run shot. Hector Torres singled in the decisive run in the fourth.

The opening inning outburst stopped starter Milt Pappas' scoreless inning string at 21-2-3. Los Angeles spotted Cincinnati an early 3-0 lead, then had to rely on pinch-hitter Len Gabrielson's run-scoring single in the sixth to snap a six-game losing streak.

Gabrielson's hit came after a triple by Wes Parker, who earlier had singled and doubled in two runs.

Chicago rookie Jose Arcia's first major league homer in the ninth inning produced victory in the opener with Pittsburgh. The Cubs liked the script so much, they tried it in the nightcap when Don Kessinger's last-inning single with two out scored the winning run.

The Cubs were staked to a 4-0 first inning lead in the opener when Ernie Banks hit the 11th grand slam of his career and his 13th homer of the season. But the Pirates fought back and eventually tied it with a pair of two-out, run-scoring singles by Willie Stargell and Manny Jimenez in the ninth.

Pittsburgh grabbed a 3-2 lead in the nightcap, but the Cubs set the stage for Kessinger's heroics when Billy Williams, Ron Santo and Banks tied it with consecutive singles in the eighth.

New York ended a long period of frustration with a pair of eighth inning runs that beat Larry Jackson and the Phillies in the second game.

It was only the second time in 22 decisions that the Mets had mastered their old nemesis. They did it when Ed Kranepool doubled in a run, then scored himself on an error.

All-Stars Get Look at Astrodome

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — The American League All-Stars got their first look at the Astrodome's synthetic turf today but Manager Dick Williams' probably was preoccupied surveying his somewhat overworked pitching staff.

Every one of the AL's seven hurlers worked either Saturday or Sunday which means that whoever gets the starting nod against the Nationals in Tuesday's All-Star classic will be working with a maximum of two days rest.

Detroit's Denny McLain, a 16-game winner and the logical starting choice, went the route of beating Oakland Sunday and had disqualified himself before that, saying there was no way he could pitch Sunday and come back Tuesday.

"My first responsibility," said McLain, "is to the Detroit Tigers," a sentiment echoed by his manager, Mayo Smith, who happens to be one of Williams' coaches.

MI Stottlemyre of New York also pitched a complete game Sunday but did not rule himself out. "I could pitch an inning or so on Tuesday," he said.

Three other AL pitchers, Tommy John of Chicago, John "Blue Moon" Odom of Oakland and Cleveland's Luis Tiant, also worked on Sunday and the remaining two members of the staff, Sam McDowell of the Indians and Boston's Gary Bell, both worked Saturday.

Manager Red Schoendienst of the National League has a well-rested staff and was expected to name Don Drysdale, Los Angeles' record-setting right-hander, as his starting pitcher.

Drysdale, who pitched 58 2-3 scoreless innings breaking Walter Johnson's record earlier this season, last worked Friday night and will have his standard three-days of rest if Schoendienst chooses to use him Tuesday.

Injuries have forced two changes on the National League squad and will make a starter out of San Francisco's great Willie Mays.

Pete Rose of Cincinnati, chosen to start in the outfield, suffered a broken thumb over the weekend and will be out of action for a month. Schoendienst named Chicago's Billy Williams to fill Rose's spot but figures to regive the starting nod to Mays, who was the fourth highest vote-getter among the NL's outfielders.

Cincinnati's Leo Cardenas was chosen to replace Gene Alton of Pittsburgh, who is nursing a shoulder injury.

The only American League re-holes. placement was Bell, who filled teammate Jose Santiago's spot. Santiago has been troubled by of his life, is unlikely to repeat tendinitis in his shoulder.

Mays was 0-for-4 in last year's play starting Wednesday, 15-inning marathon won by the Nationals 2-1. But Willie still in 1953 easily could be beaten by sports an impressive .355 average—Nicklaus or Bill Casper at 6-for-18 in the 18 games in which even Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina has appeared. He holds the batting, the defending champion records for most hits (22), runs (6), and putouts (50).

He will play center field, St. Louis' Curt Flood asked Schoendienst if he could be switched to left so Willie could play center about it. Still, he has the length and Schoendienst complied.

Mays is captaining the National League squad and will exchange lineups at home plate with Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, captain of the cy.

The favorites include, in addition to Nicklaus and Casper, edge and have taken the last Bert Yancey, Arnold Palmer, Gay Brewer and Doug Sanders.

Nicklaus 4-1 Favorite in Scot Tourney

By TOM REEDY
CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, 28-year-old Golden Bear from Columbus, Ohio, and 4-1 favorite to win the 1968 British open golf championship, calculated today he ought to clock Carnoustie's fearsome course this time better than when he saw it before.

"That time I clocked it in about 54 hours and 17 minutes," Nicklaus said with a wide grin. He was talking about the only time he has played this 7,252-yard, par-72 seaside layout regive the starting nod to Mays, who was the fourth highest vote-getter among the NL's outfielders.

"I was making a film," Nicklaus said. "That's all I remember—the time it took."

All Leaders Winning in American

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
QUESTION: When is a winner a loser?
ANSWER: When he's trying to catch the Detroit Tigers.
EXPLANATION: Cleveland, second in the American League, has won eight of its last 11 games; Detroit has won nine of 11. Third-place Baltimore has won five of seven; Detroit has taken six of seven.
Even the defending champion Boston Red Sox, currently on an eight-game winning streak that has vaulted them into fourth place, have managed to gain only one game in that stretch because the Tigers have won seven of eight.
Detroit used the long ball Sunday—three home runs, two tribles and six doubles—to sweep The Tigers settled Sunday for doubleheader from Oakland 5-3 and 7-6. Going into the three-day All-Star break, the Tigers lead won the opener from Oakland Cleveland by 9½ games, Baltimore by 10½ and Boston by 11½.

The Indians beat California 8-3 but lost the nightcap 9-7. The Orioles rallied for a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees after dropping the first game 3-1. Boston swept slumping Minnesota 4-3 and 6-3. In the lone single game, the Chicago White Sox edged Washington 4-3 in 11 innings.
In National League action, St. Louis blanked San Francisco 2-0, Los Angeles nipped Cincinnati 6-5, Houston topped Atlanta 5-4, the Chicago Cubs took two from Pittsburgh 5-4 and 4-3 and Philadelphia stopped the New York Mets 4-3 but lost the second game 4-2.
It may be a little early for such things, but for the mathematically inclined Detroit's magic number for its first pennant since 1945 is 71, with 79 games remaining.

2 Country Club Golfers in Spa Play

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer
Two junior golfers representing Hope Country Club will be on hand Wednesday and Thursday when 183 boys tee it up for the 5th Arkansas Junior Golf Championship at the Country Club of Hot Springs.
Jack Turner of Hope should be among the favorites in the 12-13 age group, after placing third last year. Also, Gary Cason of El Dorado and Rob Warren of Little Rock should be near the top of the list. This age group will play on the nine-hole Pineview course, touring 18 holes both days of the 36-hole competition. The 10-11 group will play nine holes each day on Pineview. Also from Hope, Ralph Rounton is entered in the 132 strong field of the 14-17 year olds. By the new format, all the golfers play 18 holes on the Club's No. 1 course the first day. From these scores flights of 16 men, each will be paired off for Thursday's final 18 holes.

Under the old format last year Rounton, now 15, placed in a tie for fourth place in the 14-15 age group.
Leading this year's field are defending champion Charley Watkins of Hot Springs, state jockey champ Lane Chilcott of Crossett, and Class AA high school medalist Jim Gray of Conway.

Record Roll of Vets for Southwestern

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A survey conducted by a sports writer for the Dallas Times Herald indicates that there will be more four-year players in Southwest Conference football this fall than at any other time.
The survey by Bob Galt shows that of 397 players recruited from the high school ranks for freshman play in 1968, about 158 will be on the varsity this fall.
 Baylor paced the league with a retention rate of 54 per cent on 20 of 37 players returning for their senior season.
Arkansas had 38 per cent on 21 of 56.

2 Arkansans Place in Buick

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — Two professional golfers from Arkansas tied for 20th place Sunday and earned $1,322 each in the $125,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament.
Miller Barber of Texarkana shot a 74 Sunday after rounds of 73-71-70. R. H. Sikes of Springdale had a final round of 73 after rounds of 71-70-74.
Tom Welskopf claimed the $25,000 first prize with a 72-hole total of 280.
Picture post cards first were made in Atlantic City in 1895.

She Can't Believe She Won Tourney

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
READING, Pa. (AP) — Someone said to Mrs. Susie Maxwell Barning: "You don't look or act like a girl who has just won the prestige title of women's golf—the U.S. Women's Open Championship."
The tiny, hazel-eyed bride of seven weeks paused and then replied: "It's hard to believe you could win a tournament when you play the last three holes the way I did. Maybe this is why I don't feel elated, I feel fortunate to have won."

final three holes.
Miss Mann, the veteran pro from Towson, Md., carded a final 38-37-75 and wound up tied for third with Marilyn Smith of Jupiter, Fla., who shot a final round 36-37-73. They each had 72-hole totals of 295.
Mrs. Murle Lindstrom's 39-36-75 Sunday left her deadlocked for fifth at 296 with Kathy Whitworth, the tour's leading money-winner who concluded with a 35-38-74.
Defending champion Catherine LaCoste of France, only amateur and foreigner to win the Open, was a distant 302 with a final round 73, while Sandra Post, the Canadian girl who won the Ladies' PGA Championship two weeks ago, shot a last-round 75 for a 301.

Travelers Beat Braves by 5 to 4

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jerry Davanon and Boots Day executed a double steal in the seventh inning here Sunday that lifted the Arkansas Travelers to an important 5-4 victory over the Shreveport Braves.
The triumph gave the Travs a split of the four-game series with the Braves. Arkansas left town Sunday night for a week-long road trip with a 2½ game lead over Shreveport in the Eastern Division of the Texas League.
Davanon and Day singled with two out in the seventh, setting the stage for their maneuver. Day broke for second and when the Shreveport catcher threw, Davanon came sliding home with what proved to be the winning run.
The steal gave Arkansas a 5-3 lead but George Kopacz' second homer of the game cut the margin to one in the eighth.
The Travs' Billy Wolff socked his sixth homer of the season in the sixth inning.

Poleax Is Hollywood Derby Victor

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Poleax most likely will never get his picture in one of those movie magazines but he is a Hollywood star in his own right.
The son of Ace II, owned by William R. Hawley, scored his fourth consecutive victory of the Hollywood Park season Saturday by defeating eight other 3-year-olds in the $127,000 Hollywood Derby.
Bill Hartack sent Poleax pounding through the stretch to complete the 1¼ miles in 1:59.45 for a 1½-length victory over William Haggin Perry's favored Dewan, with American Tiger third.
Poleax, who shared equal high weight of 123 pounds with Dewan, earned $82,000 for the victory.
The other key race Saturday, the Sheephead Bay Handicap on the grass at Aqueduct, drew 19 fillies and mares and had to be run in two $40,000-added divisions.
Happy Hill Farm's Ludham, ridden by Jacinto Vasquez and highweighted at 119, ripped off the 1 3-16 miles in the stakes, equalling time of 1:45.4-5 for a neck victory over Hall The Queen in the first division.
Mrs. Richard C. du Pont's Poltely, carrying top weight of 125 pounds including Angel Cordero Jr., outduelled Mount Regina in the stretch and won the second division by a nose in 1:55.2-5.
Highlighting next Saturday's program are the $162,100, with $102,100 guaranteed the winner, Hollywood Gold Cup for 3-year-olds and up at Hollywood Park; the $100,000-added Amory Lee Haskell Handicap at 3-year-olds and up at Monmouth Park; and the $75,000-added Dwyer Handicap for 3-year-olds at Aqueduct.

SUMMER HOUSES along New York's Long Island are certainly individual and architecturally unconventional. They share only one similarity: all comply with a local law requiring they be built on pilings as a safety measure against high tides. Building lots in the area start at about $30,000. June-to-September rentals range from $1,100 to $12,000. A high-priced neighborhood in which to build "castles" in the sand. These photos, made at Westhampton Beach and Quogue, show a sampling of the odd shapes including one that resembles a flying saucer and a non-barn barn.

for the FUN of it

HE: Why did grandpa ask that his Model T be buried with him?

SHE: He said he'd never got into a hole yet that it couldn't get him out of.

One of the great love affairs of all time will reach a new height of ecstasy under the spell of the soft breezes and mellow moon at Santa Catalina Island, Calif., from June 25 through 28.

A large percentage of the 3,000 families in the United States and Canada—members of the Model T Ford Club of America—will be there.

Barges will carry about 75 cars from the mainland and thereby break an island precedent. Catalina restricts transportation, ordinarily to electric cars and bikes.

As closely as possible the surroundings will be fitted to the bygone days when the Model T was as familiar as the "Chew Red Man" and "Prepare to Meet Thy God" signs on the nation's roads. There will be linen dusters, goggles and period costumes because many old-car people like to dress the part.

Henry Ford built 15 million Model Ts, the first in 1908. There is many a grayed codger who still feels that the world began to become unstuck at the moment Edsel finally persuaded his dad Henry to switch to the Model A in 1927.

Though vintage Fords have been treasured all these years by many individuals, it was less than three years ago that six devotees broke away from other old-car clubs to form the Model T organization.

Last year, at the group's first national tour, 66 cars made it back to where they were born in Dearborn, Mich. At such events, the cars are judged like so many country fair gooseberry pies. An owner of a 1909 car and another who drives a 1927 model got outstanding achievement awards.

The Model T club is a healthy organization with more than 30 active touring chapters and a publication, The Vintage Ford. There are 50,000 of the cars still intact, enough so that Sears-Roebuck still lists parts in the catalog.

Only a little less torrid an affair is that which exists between the owners of Model A Fords and their pampered favorites.

There are lots more of them, naturally, with an almost unbelievable 20 per cent of the 5 million model As manufactured still in operating condition.

Collectors have their organization, called the Model A Restorers Club. About 250 of the cars will be at Dearborn for the national club convention Aug. 9 through 11.

Restoring old cars of all models is an enthralling leisure-time hobby for a growing number of Americans, though it is not for everyone because it takes a considerable investment.

To direct travelers through the lonely regions of Australia's Outback, ranchers scratch outline maps in the hard-baked soil. These "mud maps" are a common sight in the area.

Oswald: "The drinker who drinks steadily but slowly is likely to consume more alcohol than the man who goes on an occasional bender. In the same manner the steady free bidder who likes to bid every time it is his turn, provided there is some conceivable reason, is a more dangerous partner than the man who just makes one colossal overbid once in a great while."

Jim: "Today's hand shows two of these steady free bidders working away together. South has a sound opening bid and North a minimum raise. After East backed in with two spades, steady free bidder South went to three hearts. West bid three spades and steady free bidder North tried four hearts just because everyone was bidding and it was his turn."

Oswald: "East would have made four spades if he chose to bid it but East did not know that so he passed. West doubled and South had no place to go but down."

Jim: "The actual slaughter was terrific. Spades were opened and continued, after South ducked. South won the second spade, laid down his king of hearts and continued with a heart to dummy's jack while West played low. A diamond was led and South's queen fell to West's ace. The six of clubs produced dummy's queen and East's king. East led another spade. South ruffed low and West overrudded with the nine. This gave the defense four tricks and South still had to lose the ace of trumps and a club."

Oswald: "Down 800 was a mighty large penalty to pay for a couple of mild overbids. Of course, South could have saved one trick had he played the hand perfectly but even 500 would have been far too much to trade for a part score."

President Tours Latin Capitals

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — President Johnson sets out from the capital of San Salvador today for quick visits to four other Central American countries and declared that he seeks "a road of new hope for this hemisphere."

On my return from Florida the afternoon of July 4 something was missing from "the back 40," the whimsical name I give the miniature game preserve behind my backyard. Missing was the bubbling sound of purple martins on the wing. I had a couple of dozen at my two boxes when I left town - but they are gone for the season.

They'll be congregating on the Gulf Coast preparing for mass flights down through Mexico and Central America to South America, where Spring will be starting shortly. That's the schedule of the purple martin - four months here, four months in South America, and four months on the roundtrip . . . a stupendous achievement for a relatively small bird.

Here's my six-year record on martin arrivals and departures in Hope:

1963 - Arrived March 21; left July 17
1964 - March 14 and July 4
1965 - March 6 and July 12
1966 - March 15 and July 4
1967 - March 29 and July 15
1968 - March 18 and July 4

Before I took off on my Florida trip June 21 I reported that my mated pair of Canada Geese probably wouldn't make it in their attempt to bring off a hatch of goslings - and they didn't. On my return I found they had abandoned the nest. This is the third consecutive season of failure, and I think the next pair of Honkers I buy will be not only mated but proven producers. With non-producing Canadas you are really stuck - because they are reputed to mate for life.

On the credit side, however, one of my Mallard hens is parading around with four ducklings she hatched either July 3 or 4. Now it's a question how many of the four survive that predatory loghead turtle who somehow manages to sneak into the pool and still defies capture.

Boatmen will be interested in this item:

July 3 I was cruising on the Pearl River Reservoir at Jackson, Miss., with Clarence Chapman, Fairchild Graphic Equipment sales engineer who sold The Star its new press. Chapman was showing off his new boat, when a steam-whistle sounded from a docked house - boat. I was startled, until Clarence told me a Jackson surgeon had built his own steam engine for the house-boat.

We went over to the steam craft and were invited on board by Dr. Gus Neely. I saw his home-made apparatus work. Clarence dug up a tear-sheet telling the story in the Jackson Sunday Clarion-Ledger of Nov. 5, 1967, mailed it to me, and now I've written that paper for pictures - and we should have a complete story-and-picture report for you later this month.

Why didn't I make my own pictures when I was on board the craft? My car, boat and luggage were back at Chapman's house - along with two cameras I never fired . . . it was that fast a trip to Florida and back.

Corn Belt Producers Will Meet

Broiler growers with Corn Belt will meet with Bill Watson, Tuesday July 9, at 8 p.m., at the courthouse in the large courtroom, according to Troy Burson, president, Hempstead County Farm Bureau.

All the Broiler (Corn Belt) growers are urged to attend this important meeting.

Police Busy Over Fourth Week-End

Hope Police department had a busy week-end according to Chief Alvin Willis.

There were three traffic violations, four state license violations, nine arrests for drunkenness, five for driving while intoxicated, one assault and battery, one indecent exposure, three for failure to answer summons, one AWOL soldier, one arrest for destroying private property, and one for resisting arrest.

Rent-a-Kid Project Provides Guide to Job Responsibility

By HOWARD ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An

imaginative project, Rent-A-Kid, is providing underprivileged boys and girls in Atlanta's West End with their first experience in job responsibility.

They have performed such jobs as painting to shell-bearings for home canning.

The operation began a month ago as the brainchild of Joy Cochran of the West End Neighborhood Service Center.

The purpose is to provide youngsters, aged 14 to 18, who have little or no parental supervision, the opportunity to earn money for food and clothes.

The project, originally offered in half-jest, has been so well received by the community that a second office has been opened.

Plans are being made to open several more and to keep them open during the school year on weekends. Rent-A-Kid was offered a booth in one of the city shopping centers to provide its customers with assistance.

Father Edward J. Dillon, Roman Catholic priest and codirector of Rent-A-Kid, said most of the youngsters participating in the project—many are drop-outs—already have begun to fend for themselves.

By providing them with the chance to earn money of their own they might be stimulated to stay in school and become self-supporting citizens, he said.

General household chores have dominated the jobs accepted but no reasonable job is turned down.

The office director, Douglas Lavender, decides the fee charged for a job and whether it is dangerous or too large for Rent-A-Kid to handle.

The hourly rate is $1.35 and the youngsters are paid direct unless they wish Rent-A-Kid to collect their wages for savings.

Faubus Shows Up to Greet Bennett

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — It was just another political open house until the old master arrived.

People stood around sipping orange - flavored punch and munching fancy cookies.

Bruce Bennett, candidate for governor and host to the party, circulated, shaking hands, clapping backs, introducing strangers to one another.

Then former Gov. Orval E. Faubus appeared in the doorway wearing his famous grin and the atmosphere suddenly became electric.

There was applause as he was greeted by Bennett and Mrs. Bennett, again as he strode into the room and began himself to shake hands in his inimitable fashion and a third time when he finished an informal news conference at which he denied that his appearance constituted an endorsement of the Bennett candidacy.

Bennett and his supporters were undismayed. They made it clear they felt that had scored a political coup and no formal endorsement was needed.

Just before he entered the room Faubus saluted his hat to Bob Trout, press coordinator for Bennett and Faubus' press secretary during his last term.

The governor then stopped off to get a cup of punch from Mrs. Clarence Evans of El Dorado, a volunteer worker, then he began working the crowd. He needed few introductions.

Many of the 200 or so persons who had gathered in the Marion Hotel's Forum Room for Bennett's open house were friends and one-time political allies of the former governor.

As they shook his hand, there eyes glowed as if he were a folk hero, returned in triumph from some impossible mission.

Faubus said he was there because the Bennetts often attended his open houses when he was a candidate for governor.

And he told for the first time a story of how the Bennetts befriended him during his initial campaign 14 years ago.

"I was in El Dorado in 1954," Faubus said. "I was to a great extent friendless then, just about broke, and it was the hottest summer we ever had. I ran into Bruce downtown and he took me home for lunch. He didn't have to. I wasn't regarded as a contender at that time."

Bennett said he had not asked for Faubus' endorsement. Then

Bennett Says Papers Fear WR's Money

FORDYCE, Ark. (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Bruce Bennett pleaded for party unity and lashed out at three state newspapers in a speech at a campaign rally here Saturday.

"This has been a very nice race," Bennett said. "The Democratic party has not had any bloodletting. The big issue is whether we are going to put a steady hand back at the helm of the ship of state."

Bennett said the Arkansas Gazette, the Arkansas Democrat and the Pine Bluff Commercial do not want the Democrats to nominate a candidate who can beat Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, a Republican. Bennett said that the governor had assured himself of favorable publicity by threatening to use his wealth to put a newspaper in Little Rock to compete with the Gazette and Democrat.

Another candidate, Ted Bos-

U.S. Friends Win Heavily in Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's Liberal-Democratic party swept to a stronger-than-expected victory today in upper house elections after campaigning for continued close ties with the United States.

The trend, with returns nearly completed, indicated the Liberal-Democrats would exceed their present 139-seat majority in the 250-member House of Councillors.

Only half of the 250 seats were at stake in the balloting and the Liberal-Democrats had added 68 to their 68 seats not at stake in Sunday's balloting.

The Socialists, who had 73 seats before the election, had won 22 on the basis of the incomplete returns to add to their 37 seats not at stake. The Socialists campaigned for scrapping of the U.S.-Japan security treaty and for removal of American military bases on Japanese soil.

The Communists, who had one seat in the house, gained four to give them a total of four.

Defense Department Plans to Cut Off 150,000 Civilians

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department, under strong pressure to slash spending, is working on plans that could trim more than 150,00 jobs from its civilian payroll.

Budgeting officials estimate this could save slightly more than $1 billion a year.

That is about a third of the $3 billion that Pentagon officials expect they will have to slice from defense spending this bookkeeping year in response to congressional orders.

But the Pentagon has been given no time limit for cutting its civilian work force, now totaling some 1.2 million men and women in virtually every state and overseas.

Presumably, the process could extend into the next fiscal year.

There are no indications of wholesale firings. The Pentagon hopes to accomplish its objective mainly through attrition.

This is in line with the apparent intent of Congress which ruled recently that federal agencies may fill no more than 75 per cent of job vacancies created by the resignation, retirement, death or removal of full time employees.

What this all amounts to is a belt-tightening, a partial freeze, and fewer opportunities for people looking for jobs with the armed services or defense agency.

Since studies are now under way, officials said they cannot tell what the impact will be on the various states and defense installations within those states.

Other government departments and agencies also are under orders to limit their payrolls.

But none compare in size with the defense establishment which normally accounts for about 40 per cent of total federal civilian employment.

Nearly all defense programs, except those connected with the Vietnam war, are undergoing close scrutiny and testing to determine whether they are essential.

Hawkins Is Ordered to Pay Shortage

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Judge Bobby Steel of Nashville has ordered Sheriff Marlin Hawkins of Conway County to pay the Conway County treasury $10,082.60, attorney Richard S. Arnold of Texarkana said today.

The decision came from the trial of a taxpayers suit against Hawkins in which the sheriff was asked to account for county funds he handled between 1954 and 1966.

In a lengthy case, Steel said he found that Hawkins acted in good faith and that there was no willful wrongdoing.

"The court is convinced that the defendant, Hawkins, has in good faith performed his duties as sheriff in accordance with accepted customs and practices," Steel wrote.

Steel said that the accounting methods practiced by the County Audit Division of the state Comptroller's Office, now a part of the state Administration Department, "completely ignore the disposition of fees included in cash funds which are deposited in the sheriff's office."

Arnold told The Associated Press of the ruling after the AP's attempts to contact Steel and Hawkins' attorneys had failed.

Hawkins declined comment on the decision, but said he would conduct a news conference later in the day and would discuss the case at that time.

The suit originally alleged that Hawkins misappropriated more than $200,000 from 1954 to 1966, but Steel ruled Jan. 21 during the trial at Morrilton that the statute of limitations prevented court action regarding Hawkins' affairs prior to 1963.

The years covered by the trial included only the period from 1963 to 1966. The amount of funds Hawkins was to account for in this period was $63,299.

Arnold, attorney for the taxpayers, had asked that Hawkins be held accountable for $25,202 in 1963, $13,653 in 1964, $16,581 in 1965 and $11,062 in 1966.

Hawkins was ordered to pay some money in each of the four years with the 1963 figure of $5,218 being the largest.

The decree by Steel was actually entered Saturday. He ordered Hawkins to pay six per cent annual interest on the amount from that date until the total is paid.

The case involved the establishment of civil liability for a certain amount and was not a criminal proceeding.

"I would say that I think it vindicates the principle that the government belongs to the people and not to the official," Arnold said of the ruling.

The trial began Dec. 11, 1967, and final briefs were submitted to Steel on May 2.

Fulbright Hurting Self Says Hayes

CALICO ROCK, Ark. (AP)—U.S. Senatorial candidate Bob Hayes of Calico Rock said Sunday that Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., made a mistake when he returned to Arkansas to campaign for re-election.

The move was Fulbright's "biggest blunder" because the personal appearances had destroyed the image Fulbright had built up among Arkansas voters, Hayes said.

Hayes is one of three Democrats seeking to unseat Fulbright.

Hayes also said some film he had seen on a National Broadcasting Co. news program had convinced him Fulbright was campaigning for something more than the U.S. Senate.

"He's not running just for the Senate," Hayes said. "He's running either for Secretary of State or Vice President."

Foster Johnson, a retired Little Rock businessman, said Sunday that he had turned down two attempts to buy him out of the Senate race.

Johnson made the remarks on a taped television program Sunday. He stated the names of the parties to whom he attributed the offers, but on the advice of attorneys, Television Station KTHV deleted this from the tape.

Johnson, 53, said the first offer came before he filed for the Senate race. The proffered payoff was to be $25,000, Johnson said, which was aimed at keeping him from filing for the Senate post.

The second deal was offered on the last day for filing for the race, he said. In this offer, the exact amount of the proposed payoff was unclear, he said. However, he said he was told that he would need a pickup truck to haul the money away because it would be such a large sum.

"Two or three other fellows"

witnessed the second offer, Johnson said, but he said he did not know the names of these witnesses.

Johnson's opponent Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., in the 1966 Senate race, but he described this as a trial run for his campaign against Fulbright. Johnson, 53, said his views on Vietnam are "diametrically opposed" to those of Fulbright, who proposed curtailment of bombing of North Vietnam as a means to get peace talks started. Johnson proposed that U.S. forces bomb the North Vietnam port of Haiphong even at the risk of scuttling the peace talks under way in Paris.

Mrs. Jim Johnson, wife of another Senate candidate, appeared at the political rally in Fordyce Saturday on behalf of her husband as well as for her campaign for governor.

Discussing the possibility that she may be elected governor and her husband elected to the U.S. Senate, she said, "Wouldn't it be fine to have a junior senator who wants to come home every weekend rather than every six years?"

Mixed Drink Permits Disputed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Police Director Ralph Scott says he thinks law enforcement agencies want to be sure that state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board permits allowing dispensing of mixed drinks are illegal before taking action.

The ABC Board has issued 36 of the Class 6 permits to private clubs despite a ruling by Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell that it is unlawful to dispense mixed drinks in Arkansas.

Purcell has filed suit to void the permits. The case is pending in Pulaski County Chancery Court.

Scott said he would hate to see raids against such clubs made the responsibility of a State Police "because we are spread quite thin now, and I believe our first responsibility is to safety and protection of human life, which benefit the people much more than raids against this type club."

"We take the position that violation of liquor laws is in the jurisdiction of the ABC Board and local authorities," Scott said. "It's pretty apparent where the board stands on this matter since it issued the permits."

"We believe our jurisdiction extends to the local level, but is subsidiary to local authority," he said. "Only when the local authorities fail to take action do we believe we should take action."

"It isn't quite fair to say local authorities won't take action just because they haven't done so yet," Scott said. "This issue is being handled in the courts now, and I think law enforcement agencies want to be sure the permits are illegal before they take action against these clubs."

Scott said he did not know how long the State Police would wait before determining whether local authorities intended to take action, but he said such a decision should not be made until after the court rules on the permits.

If the court holds the permits are illegal, then local law enforcers should be given some time to evaluate the situation before acting against drinks, Scott said.

Hopeful of Curbing Atom Missile Race

By LEWIS GULICK

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S.

officials say they hope the United States and the Soviet Union will work out a formula by the end of the week for starting talks on curbing the nuclear missile race.

U.S. disarmament chief William C. Foster, plans a preliminary meeting with his Soviet counterpart, Alexei A. Roshchin, before the 17-nation disarmament conference opens its summer session July 16.

Foster plans to leave for Geneva about Thursday.

He and Roshchin as delegation heads for the two nations sponsoring the continuing disarmament parley are to stake out the agenda for the conference's round.

Meanwhile, Washington-Moscow diplomatic exchanges have not completed the missile talk arrangements, the two may tackle this also.

It is possible that for international political convenience the two super powers will use the Geneva conference as an umbrella for their missile curb deliberations. But the serious bargaining seems most likely to come in private, two-power meetings; perhaps in Moscow or Washington rather than Geneva.

U.S. authorities figure neither of the major atomic powers want to bare nuclear strength, the heart of their military might, before nonnuclear kibitzers, at the formal Geneva gathering.

The seeming readiness by the two nations to at last tackle their own arms rivalry head-on has created an atmosphere of excitement among Washington strategists dealing with disarmament and East-West relations.

The 1963 limited test ban treaty restrained the super power arms race only in a special way because it still allowed nuclear weapons development through underground test blasts.

The nonproliferation treaty signed last week outlaws the distribution of atomic weapons to nonnuclear nations but does not prevent the nuclear nations from adding to their own arsenals.

It is assumed in Washington that the Kremlin timed its June 27 announcement of readiness to begin the talks on missile restraint in order to promote signings of the nonproliferation pact by the nonnuclear countries. The have-not states were pressing for a curb by the large powers on themselves.

But the more general cause

Russian Air Service to U.S. Is Near

NEW YORK (AP)—Aeroflot,

the Soviet airline, announced today that the long planned commercial air service between

New York and Moscow will be inaugurated next Monday with a flight from Moscow.

A Russian-built IL62 four-engine jet, which can carry 120 passengers, will make the once-a-week Moscow-New York runs via Montreal. It will land at Kennedy Airport at 4:30 p.m., an Aeroflot spokesman said.

Pan American World Airways, under an agreement with the Soviet government negotiated with the help of the State Department, expects to begin flight service to Moscow the same day, a spokesman said.

According to the Aeroflot schedule for July through October, the Soviet airline will make a flight every Monday and return the next day.

The flight distance between New York and Moscow is about 4,700 miles.

Standard fares of the International Air Transport Association will apply. The first-class fare is $854 one way, $1,110 round trip and the basic economy class is $384 one way and $730 round

Blaiberg Rallies in Crisis

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the world's longest surviving heart transplant patient, rallied Sunday from the worst setback since his operation Jan. 2. His doctors were using a new serum and indicated they no longer plan another heart transplant for him.

Blaiberg's wife, Etelen, said she was told by Dr. Christiaan Barnard, head of Groote Schuur Hospital's heart transplant team, that her husband's condition had undergone a "dramatic change."

"It's as if they had given new life to my husband," she said. "I'm hoping and praying the serum treatment will be successful."

Mrs. Blaiberg visited her husband Sunday and said he seemed much better. "We talked a great deal," she said.

Blaiberg, a 59-year-old retired dentist, had been gravely ill with hepatitis, double pneumonia and symptoms that his transplanted heart was faltering. Barnard had said a second heart transplant might be attempted, but a hospital bulletin Sunday night said: "No further emergency treatment is anticipated."

The hospital bulletin said: Barnard's transplant team has decided to use antilymphocyte serum, it reported "definite improvement" in Blaiberg's condition and said: "His lung condition is improving."

The serum, developed in Denver, Colo., swallows lymphocytes, the body's natural weapons against such foreign invaders as transplanted organs and infection. It has been used successfully over the past two years in kidney and liver transplants to combat the body's tendency to reject foreign organs.

Barnard had considered using

Monday, July 8, 1968

the serum on the world's first human heart transplant patient, the late Louis Washkansky, but decided against it because "there is still a lot of uncertainty and danger in it," he said last January.

The serum, called ALG, is obtained from horses. In all, 24 heart transplants have been performed in the world, and seven recipients are still alive.

Civil Rights Appeal Tears Up Theater

WASHINGTON (AP)—A performer at the American Folklore Institute walked off the stage Sunday to protest a civil rights leader's appeal for more racial cooperation.

Ace Reid, a cowboy cartoonist, walked from the stage as the Rev. Frederick D. Kirkpatrick urged the audience to put to work the message of a song, "This Little Light of Mine, Lord."

"Go back home and let your little light shine," the Rev. Kirkpatrick, a member of the Poor People's Campaign, said.

Reid said he didn't believe a civil rights appeal had a place in a festival about American folklore.

The incident came at the end of the five-day festival, which was sponsored by the Smithsonian Institute to celebrate the cultural contribution of folk culture to American life.

Sunday night's four-hour concert was to honor Texas folk artists and to pay tribute to John A. Lomax Sr., an expert in folk culture who was a major force in popularizing folk music.

The performers at the concert, which ended the festival, were Texans representing varied ethnic and cultural backgrounds.

Britons Cross Over London Bridge Sale

By TOM A. CULLEN

European Staff Correspondent

LONDON — (NEA) — With

the sale of London Bridge to Arizona as a tourist attraction,

America is rapidly becoming the custodian of British history, in the opinion of many here.

Everything from Cunard

churches has found its way to the shores of the New World in recent months, and not all about it. They feel that Britain is selling its birthright for a mess of Yankee dollars.

London Bridge, which inspired

a famous nursery rhyme, has been sold for $2.46 million to the McCulloch

the rot started a few years back when a Sir Christopher Wren church was dismantled here and shipped to Fulton, Mo. The chapel was then re-erected on Missouri soil as a monument to Sir Winston Churchill.

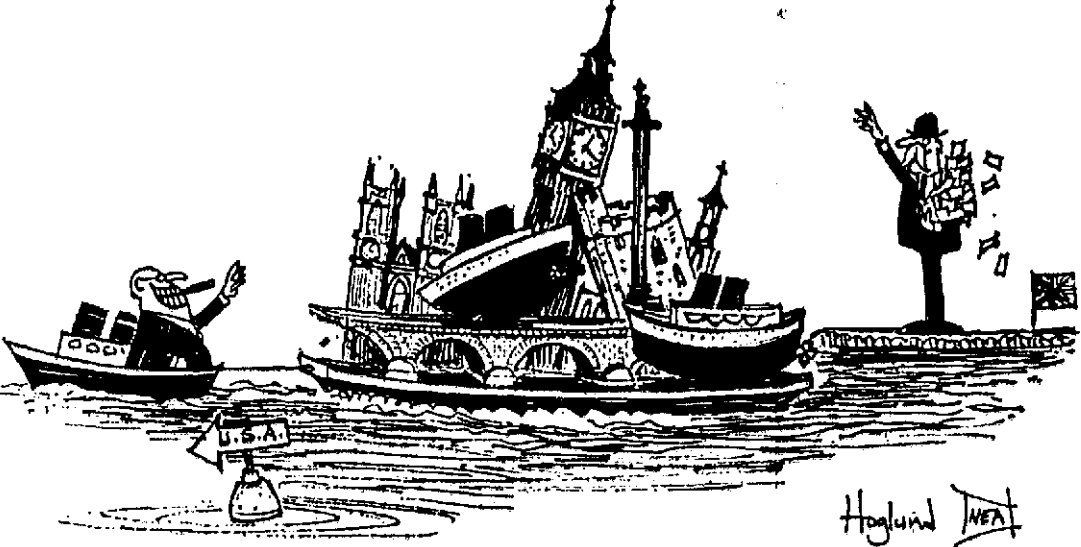

This was followed by the sale in July, 1967, of the Queen Mary to Long Beach, Calif., for use as a combination hotel and oceanarium. More recently, its sister ship, the Queen Elizabeth, was sold for $7.75 million to a group of Philadelphia businessmen, who plan to convert it into a combination hotel, restaurant and convention center.

These two queens were once the sovereigns of the Atlantic, holding the blue ribbon for

Meanwhile, the city engineer's office here has been deluged with requests from America for chunks of granite from the bridge to decorate mantel-pieces as souvenirs. Most of the requests are backed by hard cash and have given rise to a thriving fringe industry.

The London Bridge which is being dismantled was built in 1831 and is only one of many bridges that have spanned the Thames at the present site, the earliest having been built by the Romans in A.D. 50.

In 1014, King Olaf of Norway pulled London Bridge down with grappling irons while Britons poured boiling

Oil Corp., which plans to re-erect it at Lake Havasu City, Ariz. (pop. 4,000), as a tourist peep-show.

Dismantling of the historic bridge is already under way. Each of its 12,000 pieces is being numbered prior to being shipped via Long Beach, Calif., to Lake Havasu, where they will be reassembled like a giant jigsaw puzzle.

Dismayed at the fate meted out to London Bridge, cynics here are wondering which of London's remaining landmarks will be knocked down next to go to the highest American bidder. Will it be Westminster Abbey, Nelson's Column, or the Tower of London, which houses the Crown Jewels?

The more flippant will tell you that the Houses of Parliament were sold to the United States when Britain became the 51st American state.

Those who grumble that America is swallowing up Britain's heritage claim that speed. "They should have been kept in this country as reminders of British engineering skill," complains a bartender who, admittedly, has never set foot on either liner. "This way, we will have nothing left to show our children."

The same complaint is made concerning British antiques and works of art that find their way into American homes: It would be better if they gathered dust in attics here. (An export license is now required before shipping abroad any antique over 100 years old and valued at more than $4,800, which rather limits the art drain.)

The old nursery jingle about "London Bridge is falling down" is as well-known in America as it is here. Banking on its pulling power, Lake Havasu is expecting its tourist trade to increase by 500 per cent once London Bridge is reassembled in its new home.

oil on the heads of his soldiers. Olaf returned to Norway boasting, "I have pulled London Bridge down, it has fallen." That is the origin of the nursery jingle.

The present London Bridge is not falling down but sinking at the rate of one inch every eight years, owing to its tremendous weight (130,000 tons) and the traffic vibration. Also, it is too narrow to cope with the 20,000 pedestrians and 2,750 vehicles that cross it every hour. It will be replaced by a $10 million, six-lane bridge, due to be completed in 1971.

Not all Britons are sorry to see the old London Bridge go to Arizona. "America is a young country and venerates antiques, whereas Britain has too many of them," a keeper at the British Museum explains. "So what is one monument more or less among friends? We've got plenty more where that one came from."

Nixon Views Split Among Democrats

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon says he will have an edge on Hubert H. Humphrey in November because the vice president will get the nomination "over the objection of a majority of the Democratic voters."

The Republican presidential candidate said he will have the advantage of voters knowing that he got the nomination because he was the choice of a majority of GOP voters.

"I think that's a very fundamental advantage," Nixon said, "because Sen. Eugene McCarthy's big ploy will be: 'Look, I'm the choice of the people—Humphrey ran third.'"

Nixon said, "My ploy is that, not only am I the choice of the primaries, but I ran nationwide. We ran stronger in all of the states."

The former vice president's remarks came in an interview with the Miami Herald. He was asked, "Do you believe the race this fall will be between Nixon and Humphrey?" He replied: "As a political realist and without claiming that my nomination is locked up, I do."

He said, "I believe Humphrey will be the nominee because the Democratic convention will go the way of the bosses."

Asked about his own opposition, Nixon said he thought Republicans would unite behind him more solidly than they did in 1960. "I entered all the primaries... and polled an average of 75 per cent of all the votes and there isn't a helluva lot left for the others."

Humphrey made a mistake by not entering the primaries, Nixon said. "He had the chance after he got into the race to enter four state primaries. He got into none."

"And in each state where he had a stand-in candidate running, that proxy candidate ran way behind," he said.

Nixon said Vietnam would be a thorny issue for the platform committee of both parties but "this will be a more difficult problem for Humphrey... because he will have to stand on the administration's record."

The GOP candidate said his advantages would carry over to the nation's campuses as well. "This is a Nixon-Humphrey fight," he said, "and I will do as well with the students as Humphrey, maybe a little better."

Pin Is Given Retiring President

CLYDE FOUSE, LEFT, AND HAROLD EAKLEY

DR. LESTER SITZES

Rotary Club President Harold Eakley presented a past-president's pin to Clyde Fouse, retiring president, at the luncheon meeting of the club Friday, July 5, in the Town and Country. The new president announced that each of the club members would be responsible for offering a luncheon at least once during the year, and he said C. R. (Dick) Moore was the new program chairman. Jim Pruden acknowledged receipt of a letter from Capt. Herbert Jack Lloyd and promised further information about this next week.

Dr. Lester Sitzes had a highly entertaining program with pictures and comments about his European trip. The slides were mostly of Russia, because his time for the program was limited and they were of primary interest. After traveling in 8 countries, this one fact was foremost in his mind. Europeans are scared of the German people, of what they could and would do to their neighbors.

It was with regret that the group was told of the sudden death of the only other Arkansas dentist who toured with Dr. Sitzes and several Illinois dentists. His death had occurred the day before the Rotary presentation, so he was pictured in several scenes which were shown. Dr. Sitzes promised to continue his slide presentation at a later date.

Backlog of Bills Blocks Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, hoping to close out its 90th session before the political conventions next month, went into the homestretch today immediately facing a large amount of major legislation.

Key floor or committee action on gun controls, foreign aid, housing, and President Johnson's Supreme Court appointments was expected before the end of the week as congressmen returned from a long Fourth of July weekend.

But prospects for meeting leaders' Aug. 3 adjournment target date were clouded by a brewing Senate fight over confirmation of the Supreme Court appointments.

The Aug. 3 deadline would be hard to meet even without such a fight. Major legislation yet to be dealt with includes 10 of the 13 regular appropriation bills.

Action on gun controls resumed today with House Rules Committee scheduling of floor action on a measure to extend the already-passed ban on mail-order sales of handguns to rifles shotguns and ammunition.

The Senate Judiciary Committee begins deliberations Tuesday on President Johnson's far stronger proposal to require registration of all guns and licensing of all owners.

The battle over confirmation of President Johnson's nomination of Supreme Court Associate Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice of the United States and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice gets a formal arena Thursday at the Senate Judiciary Committee hearings.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, as a leadoff witness, is expected to be questioned closely on whether a vacancy exists on the court.

Some committee members argue there is no vacancy because Johnson said Chief Justice Earl Warren's retirement would be accepted when a replacement was appointed—and no replacement has been confirmed by the Senate.

Leaders of a group of 19 Republican senators have threatened to filibuster confirmation on the Senate floor but Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has said he would oppose such a filibuster and vote for confirmation.

The Republican opponents argue Warren's replacement and a new justice to fill the vacancy should be appointed by the incoming president next January, not by Johnson whom they call a "lame duck" President.

In other action this week, a foreign-aid authorization bill already cut $600 million in committee below Johnson's $2.9 billion request faces further cuts and a close final vote in the House.

The House is expected to pass a widening housing bill similar to one already passed by the Senate.

An Aug. 3 adjournment—coming just before the major political conventions and freeing congressmen for re-election campaigns—would require scrapping some of Johnson's legislative program.

Likely casualties appear to be the President's proposals for stronger enforcement of equal opportunity laws, lowering of the voting age, extension of the farm program, changes in electoral procedures, foreign-trade negotiating authority, a child-health program and several conservation measures.

Further appropriation cuts are expected, particularly in foreign aid. Congress already has made large cuts in the President's antipoverty and education programs and all but ended his highway beautification program.

But Johnson has won the 10 per cent income tax surcharge and crime-control bill for which he pressed hardest, although he had to make large concessions in both cases.

The President also has won enactment of a major civil rights measure including an open-housing law, and enactment of a package of consumer bills including disclosure of credit costs on installment purchases.

Gunman's Wife Won't Quit Him

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Beryl Middle, the 19-year-old bride-hostage, has passed up four chances to escape from the suburban house where her gunman husband is holed up, detectives say.

They reported she was seen walking unguarded on the house's veranda four times and that she also has shouted insults at the police surrounding the house.

The policemen outside the house say the gunman, Wally Mellish, is a publicity seeker not likely to hurt anyone.

Mellish, 22, started threatening to shoot the girl and their 3-month-old baby a week ago when police came to question him about thefts of car parts.

Police Commissioner Norman T. Allan arranged a wedding Wednesday for the couple, with the bridegroom holding the shotgun, after the youth promised to surrender, but Mellish didn't keep his part of the bargain. Since then the police have maintained a cordon around the house but have not tried to capture Mellish.

Executives of the Sydney Police Association accused Allan of "weak and negative action" because he acceded to Mellish's demand for an armor-piercing rifle to "make him equal to the police."

Allan also attended the wedding ceremony and provided the $20 wedding ring and a wedding dinner of steak, curried mushrooms and rice pudding.

Mellish is now armed with a shotgun, three rifles, a revolver and a box of hand grenades.

Mellish, his wife and their baby, named Lesley, have been subsisting on canned foods.

A woodcock will consume nearly half its weight in worms in a single day.

CORE Ends Convention in Dispute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Congress of Racial Equality recessed its national convention Sunday after some delegates walked out in a dispute over the future course of the organization.

Charging that CORE was "a simple tool to blind black people," Robert "Sonny" Carson led his Brooklyn chapter out of the convention and threatened to form a new civil rights group on his own.

"It is clear to a lot of us out here that this organization and a few people who have a quest for power are only using this tool as a vehicle for personal fame," Carson said.

CORE delegates also failed to act on a new constitution which earlier had been described as "of extreme significance to black people in this country."

CORE officials said the convention would be reconvened in another city next month for the purpose of considering and ratifying the new constitution. The city was not selected.

The squabble also blocked the selection of a new CORE director to replace Floyd McKissick, who wants a leave of absence because of a bad back.

Associate national director Roy Innis had hoped to take over McKissick's $16,500-a-year post at the windup of the five-day, 26th annual convention.

Innes and other CORE leaders favor the building up of Negro communities and using foundation grants to do it. The Carson faction disagrees.

McKissick is reported to be "reconsidering" stepping down until the dispute is settled.

Carson views black nationalism as total noncooperation with the "establishment"—including its money. He and other CORE chapters are reportedly angered at what they call "strongarm tactics" by Innis.

Innis wants to reduce the autonomy of CORE's 200 chapters around the country and bring them under direct control of the national office.

Carson, who has called for a separate "black homeland" from Maryland to Florida, bounded by the Mississippi River on the West and the Atlantic Ocean on the East, says two other New York chapters plus the Philadelphia and Kansas City units support him.

Carson and his defectors indicated plans to form a new organization later this month in Philadelphia.

Total number of payments for care of Arkansas members . . . . . 16,325

HOW MUCH WILL IT PAY? Most hospital services are paid in full by your Arkansas Blue Cross and Blue Shield membership. In the case of last month's largest payment, the total bill for the member amounted to $4,527.99. The part not paid by Blue Cross was the difference between the hospital room rate and the member's room allowance plus his $25 deductible.

GIVE MEANING TO YOUR LIFE. Ten thousand health careers await Arkansans who seek a rewarding future. Contact your hospital or write to Health Careers, Box 3381, Little Rock 72203.

WELCOME TO ARKANSAS! If you have just moved here and are a Blue Cross-Blue Shield member from another state, your membership is readily transferable to Arkansas. Call us or write to the address below.

FIRST CHOICE. More people choose Blue Cross and Blue Shield to help them pay hospital and doctor bills than any other plan available. Over 340,000 Arkansans are members.

COLLEGE ROUND? If you are between the ages of 19 and 24 and a full-time student, there is a low-cost Student Plan membership in Blue Cross-Blue Shield designed especially for you. It gives year-round protection (from September to September) and includes a supplemental accident endorsement which is so important if you travel. We'll gladly send you information about the plan. Write us now so you will be ready when school begins this fall.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

What counts is not the number of hours you put in, but how much you put in the hours. Selected.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

The Sunday School Department of Bethel A.M.E. Church will sponsor a wicker roast at the church Friday night July 12th. The public is invited.

The Garret Chapel Baptist Church will celebrate its 16th year of the "Garret Chapel Gospel Hour" on radio station KXAR Sunday July 14th beginning at 2 p.m. All churches are invited to join in the celebration by participating, with numbers from their choirs, and - or individual renditions. Persons wishing to attend the broadcast and don't have transportation to the church are asked to call PR7-4265.

Men's Day will be observed at Bethel A.M.E. Church Sunday July 14th. A special program has been planned for that day, with the men of the church in charge. Rev. J. E. Hughes, pastor.

Negotiators Work on New Steel Deal

By DOUG BAILEY
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — The tempo of talks for a new labor contract in the steel industry picks up today as negotiators return to work after a long holiday weekend.

Only 24 days remain before the old contract expires. The United Steelworkers Union traditionally refuses to work without one.

On Wednesday the union's advisory committee meets to review progress of the negotiations, which started at the plant level in May and converged in Pittsburgh on June 24.

The following Tuesday the basic steel industry conference meets and could call for a strike vote.

Although virtually all local issues have been cleaned up, there have been no reports of progress on the money talks and the questions of contract language.

Incentive pay is expected to be one of the toughest issues in the contract. The union wants all workers covered.

Despite an official news blackout, many other union goals have been made clear: A substantial pay increase, an automatic cost of living increase, increased pensions and earlier retirement, longer vacations and extra pay, a new job classification manual to plug loopholes created by automation, larger unemployment benefits and stricter rules on contracting work out of plants.

The proposed contract also would cut down on the work done by supervisors, guarantee better work hour scheduling, broaden training programs and pay all workers for their lunch hour.

The industry insists it will fight any package that costs 5 per cent a year, the pattern established by the union in the can and aluminum negotiations.

ALSO ON SUNDAY

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Business has been booming since a restaurant installed this sign: "We Serve Sunday Dinner Seven Days A Week."

Let's talk sense about Arkansas' Dollars.

Arkansas is on the brink of financial disaster.

We're almost broke.

The first task of a new Democratic administration will be to restore efficiency and fiscal integrity to state government. If you elect me your governor, I will squeeze out the fat.

I will close the tax loopholes.

I will balance the budget.

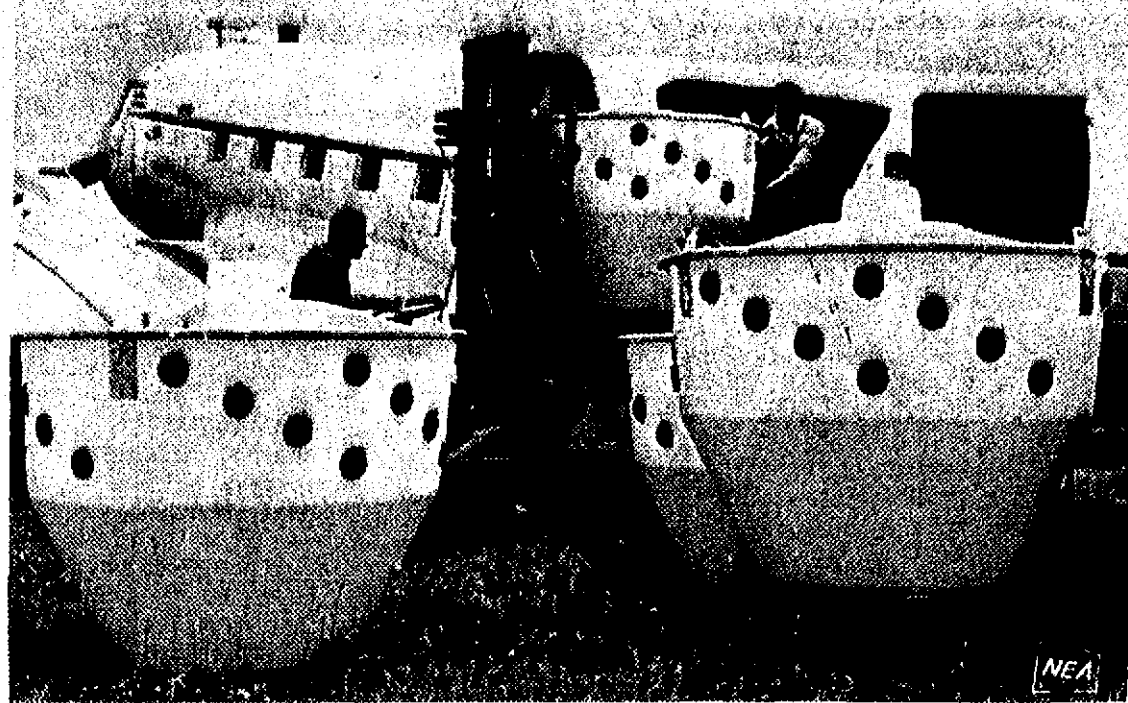

Give me your help. Give me your vote.

Together we can build a better Arkansas.

Students Lose Last Stronghold

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — The last major bastion of the student rebellion at the University of Paris fell without a fight today. Police at dawn moved into the new medical school on the Rue des Saints-Peres and evicted the last 17 students holding out in the big four-story building. The red flag waving over the roof was hauled down. It was the last important University of Paris building held by the students whose revolt early in May touched off France's worst post-war crisis. The police were helmeted and carried rifles, but there was no resistance. The students, who included four girls, whistled and joked as they were taken away for questioning. The holdouts had been waiting for days for the police to come. They said they would not oppose them. "A single tear has bomb through the windows would send Mary Queen of Scots was the first known woman golfer.

us all running," said one. On June 16 the police took over the Sorbonne, the headquarters of the revolt. The school of fine arts, which produced anti-De Gaulle posters, was taken on June 27. Last Friday it was the turn of the school of science and the new Sorbonne annex on the Rue Censier. There was no resistance at any of them. A few dozen students were taken to a police station, and some were kept overnight. Some of them wrote newspapers charging that they were not fed nor allowed to call their parents. Police also arrested a few persons who were not students, including several of the "Kangaroo" who had made trouble at the Sorbonne. They got their name from some of their number who said they had served with mercenary troops in the Congo's Katanga province. Sunday afternoon at the medical school there was still a little of the carnival atmosphere that had the Sorbonne swinging while the students were in possession. But it was more subdued.

Thieu Puts Off Visit to U.S.A.

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today he has postponed his state visit to Washington again "to a later date this year" because of information that the Communists are planning a new offensive. Thieu said he has proposed to President Johnson that they meet "for a few days somewhere in the Pacific in the forthcoming weeks." In addition to his stated reason for postponing the trip, Thieu also may have been afraid Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky might try to pull off a coup while he was away. Johnson last April 1 invited Thieu to visit the United States. The trip was tentatively set for sometime in June. The Poor People's campaign in Washington and political troubles at home caused Thieu to postpone the trip and later he said he planned to go sometime after July 20.

Didn't Want Money for Super Plane

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the supersonic transport (SST) program says the project is in good shape despite House action in not appropriating funds for the big plane for the upcoming fiscal year. In fact, the funds were left out because SST program planners didn't want the money, Air Force Maj. Gen. J. C. Maxwell said in an interview. Maxwell is director of the SST program for the Federal Aviation Administration. "This decision against seeking money requested earlier was not forced down our throat; we took this position on our own without being told," Maxwell said about the House last week for leaving SST funds out of the Transportation Department's $1.35 billion budget. "It may be hard to believe, signed, would not have performed well enough to insure a commercially profitable aircraft, Maxwell explained. But Boeing has caught up with the problem and things are going satisfactorily now, he said. Representatives of airlines that made downpayments on 122 SSTs with Boeing will meet with officials of the aircraft firm next Tuesday to review the situation, Maxwell said. Maxwell said another widespread misconception regarding what he called recurrent false reports from abroad that the Franco-British SST, the Concorde, is in trouble. He said these reports, apparently originating from sources opposed to the Concorde, hurt the U.S. project because they give a false sense of leadership on the part of the American program. "It's amazing, but many people around here, including some in the Congress, don't think the Concorde is for real," Maxwell said. The U.S. treasurer, who is bonded for $150,000, is actually the custodian of the public moneys.

STORING GARDEN TOOLS PROPERLY WILL CUT DOWN ON ACCIDENTS

By MR. FIX

One trouble with garden tools is that one tends to be tripping over them all the time. It does little good for one's limb or for the tools.

Hanging them up out of the way will prevent accidents, save room and save wear and tear on the tools. Hanging them up in a makeshift manner, however, may be worse than leaving them about—especially if there are children around.

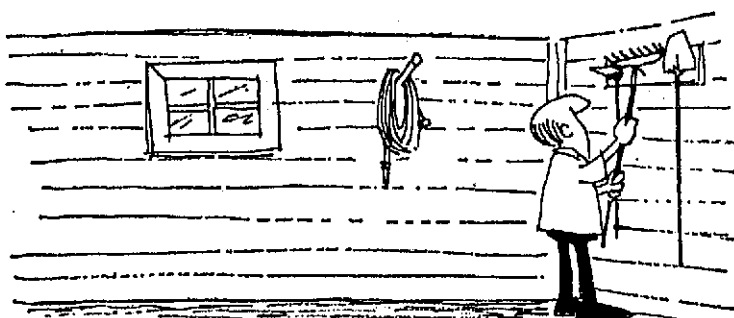

Children, and adults too, can be injured by pulling down tools that are hung on nails or hooks. When you hang your tools along a garage wall, provide a means of keeping them from falling. A strip of wood nailed across garage studs can serve as a retainer.

Tools on hooks can be kept in place with bits of light chain hooked over the handle and placed high enough to be out of the reach of children.

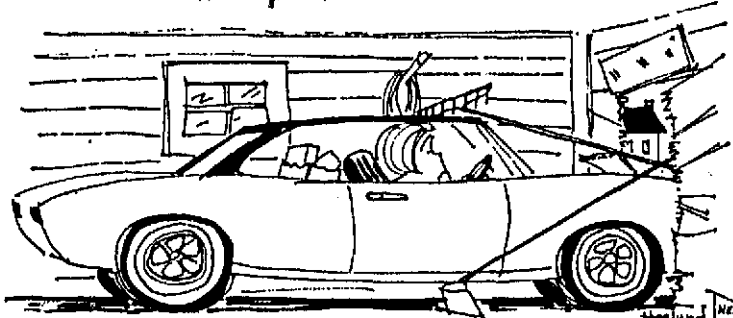

Use a fence staple at one end and a screen door hook at the other to hold the chain in place. Nails or hooks can be used to hold the tool itself—a pair of nails for a rake, for example.

Small tools — clippers, trowels and the like—can be held securely in another manner. Make a shelf out of scrap wood and nail it between joists of a garage wall. Instead of placing the tools on the shelf, cut holes big enough for the tool to fit in but not big enough to fall through.

Sharp tools, such as a scythes, should be hung high and out of the way and be retained with a chain.

Pails, sprinkling cans and similar containers can be hung overhead. Do not use nails. The items can be too easily knocked off. Use hooks instead.

Fuel for your power mower should be kept in a tightly capped metal can. Keep it up on a shelf out of the way. Insecticides should also be kept in tightly stoppered and breakproof containers. Keep in a locked cabinet.

Put tools away clean and they will be ready to use instantly. Clean off all dirt after using a tool. Then scour with steel wool.

If tools are not going to be used for awhile, wipe with light coating of oil before hanging up.

Keep the cutting edge of tools sharp. Use a file. Always sharpen from the back side to the beveled edge.

Keep wooden handles smooth. A light sanding will prevent painful splinters. Treat unpainted handles with a coat of linseed oil well-rubbed in. Thin the oil first. Oil prevents the wood from drying out.

Keep pruning shears and clippers oiled. Tighten the screw that holds the blades together. Sharpen occasionally with a sharpening stone.
